DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's election without traverse of claims 15-21 in the reply filed on 9/19/07 is acknowledged.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL. A complete reply to the final rejection must include cancellation of nonelected claims or other appropriate action (37 CFR 1.144) See MPEP § 821.01.

Claim 22 is hereby withdrawn from further consideration.

P = paragraph, e.g. p1 – paragraph 1.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 15-21 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 15-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. It appears that the applicant is trying to claim a license customizing schema. The applicant's wording in the independent claim is vague and does not specifically point out this matter. However this is just a guess as to what the applicant is trying to claim. It is unclear what the independent claim is trying to claim by the wording of the claim. Does the software come with a license to begin with? Does the user tell the software maker what to make? Is the user involved in the making of the software and/or license? If the above is clarified, then what is the purpose of the exclusion and inclusion identifier? The use of inclusion and exclusion identifiers is well known in software and programming. The general wording of the independent claim is unclear.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

Claims 15-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Biddle et al. USPAP 2002/0107809, and further in view of Clement et al. USP 7,203,703.

As per claim 15, Biddle discloses a method for licensing external processes on a server comprising the steps of: generating an electronic license, wherein the electronic license is generated by formatting a customer order for a software product in accordance with a licensing schema and the formatted electronic license to include a plurality of software command directives embedded within the formatted electronic license to indicate whether a particular software command directive associated with a particular feature of the soft-ware product is to be accepted for registration or rejected for registration, and wherein each software command directive includes a command name associated with a particular software command or operation of the software product and indicating the acceptance or rejection of registration for that particular software command or operation within the software product and executing the registered commands (abstract; p18, 72, 14 and 17; claims 19, 27-28, 35-37). Although the user of inclusion and exclusion identifiers is inherent and well known in the art, a second reference is brought in to show this limitation. Biddle does not disclose an inclusion and/or exclusion identifier. Clement discloses an inclusion or exclusion identifier, and wherein at least one software command for the software product is associated with the exclusion identifier; and registering selective ones of the software commands in response to the software command directives and their inclusion and exclusion identifiers (col.9, 50-54). It would have been obvious to modify Biddle to include an inclusion and/or exclusion identifier as taught by Clement in order to give the user and/or vendor the ability to modify the software license such that it is cost beneficial for both the user and the vendor as to what part of the software is to be used.

As per claim 16, Biddle further discloses wherein the step of includes directing the software product to only use a set of licensed hardware resources, the set of licensed hardware resources also being defined by one or more fields in the electronic license (abstract; p18, 72, 14 and 17; claims 19, 27-28, 35-37).

As per claim 17, Biddle further discloses wherein the step of generating includes generating a license upgrade, the license upgrade defining a set of additional commands for registration that are not part of software commands registered in conjunction with one or more prior licenses (abstract; p18, 72, 14 and 17; claims 19, 27-28, 35-37).

As per claim 18, Biddle further discloses wherein the step of generating includes generating a license upgrade, the license upgrade describing additional hardware resources licensed for use by the software product that are not part of hardware resources licensed for use by prior licenses (abstract; p18, 72, 14 and 17; claims 19, 27-28, 35-37).

As per claim 19, Biddle further discloses wherein the step of generating includes generating a license upgrade, the license upgrade describing additional hardware resources licensed for use by the software product that add further capabilities to hardware resources licensed for use by prior licenses (abstract; p18, 72, 14 and 17; claims 19, 27-28, 35-37).

As per claim 20, Biddle further discloses further comprising either one of (a) installing the electronic license in the server prior to shipment of the server to an end-user of the server and (b) providing the electronic license to the end-user on a removable media for installation in the server after the shipment of the server to the end-user (abstract; p18, 72, 14 and 17; claims 19, 27-28, 35-37).

As per claim 20, Biddle further discloses further comprising installing the electronic license in the server in a over-the-wire process including (a) digitally signing the electronic license by a vendor, (b) transmitting the digitally signed electronic license over a communications network from the vendor to the server, (c) validating the digitally signed electronic license by the server and (d) installing the validated electronic license in the server (abstract; p18, 72, 14 and 17; claims 19, 27-28, 35-37).

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within

TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
